

Nucleo License

By purchasing Nucleo you are being granted a license to use Nucleo icons (including the custom icons created through the Nucleo Mac/Web applications) for specific uses under certain conditions.

You have rights to use Nucleo icons in unlimited personal and commercial projects for yourself or a client. Even if you don't renew the Basic license, you can still use the source files for as many projects as you want.

For each project, you can use a maximum of 500 icons (intended per unique style: for example if you're using the same icon in both the outline and glyph styles, or in 2 different sizes, you're using 2 icons). This limit doesn't apply if you're using Nucleo web font, in which case you can use all icons included within the font.

By purchasing Nucleo, you have the right to:

- Use Nucleo icons in unlimited personal and commercial projects.
- If you're using Nucleo icons in a commercial projects, there's no limit to the number of customers that can use the product you're developing (e.g. if you're developing a web application and you're using Nucleo icons throughout the design, there's no limit to the number of active users of the application).
- Use Nucleo icons in application/website/print/mobile/logo design.

You don't have the right to:

- Sublicense, resell, share, transfer, or otherwise redistribute Nucleo icons on its own (even for free).
- Use more than 500 icons for a single project.
- Use Nucleo in a product offered for sale (or for free) where Nucleo contributes to the core value of the product being sold/shared (e.g. you can't create a logo builder application that combine Nucleo icons to create a logo, or use Nucleo icons as a feature of a Wordpress theme).

If you're interested in using Nucleo icons in items offered for sale (or for free) where Nucleo contributes to the core value of the product being sold/shared, or if you want to use up to 1000 icons for a single project, you have to buy an extended license:

<https://nucleoapp.com/extended-license/>

If you're still unclear about what is or isn't allowed under this license, please contact the support team at info@nucleoapp.com.